

How Liquid-cooled PCs Work

26/04/2008 16:38 by How Stuff Works

In most computers, fans do a pretty good job of keeping components cool. But for people who want to use high-end hardware or coax their PCs into running faster, liquid cooling can be a better solution.

Source: HowStuffWorks: ComputerStuff Daily RSS Feed